The cat has died and has 8 lives left, I portray myself as a cat-man breed, with a black mask-like cat face, and pure white halo around the head. For me the halo represents death. I lost everything in a fire back in 2018 in my 2nd year at Artist Proof Studio. After the incident everything was twisted. It encouraged me to do more than I was doing and fix what was ruined. I create a space in my work for my dead life – a space with hybrid fish and cats.
