

THE THOUSAND SILENT WORDS TREE

R 50,000.00 ex. vat

This piece talks about all the unspoken that we strangle ourselves with.
And the unspoken beautiful message within these muffled emotions.

The ocean looking back ground was made on flat ground using large brushes.

First I drew the main character like a big fruit on his chocking knotted hand tree.
Then I drew the words, using graffiti markers, white, yellow ,silver and gold.

I applied the furrow technique on this skinned tree creature, using TIPEX.
Reconnecting me with school, a few decades ago.

I poured glitter under the eye and eyebrow.

I then added copper glitter to the intertwined zones of the finger and the face.

Frame	None
Medium	Mixed media on canvas
Location	Poet Laval, France
Height	152.00 cm
Width	123.00 cm
Artist	Khwezi Strydom
Year	2023

