

POSEIDON, the angel's mark

R 21,000.00 ex. vat

I painted the blue background on an existing paint, releasing reddish patters.

i then tagged a few words using graffiti ink.

I quickly poored copper glitter on the fresh ink.

Poseidon was drawn then painted using oil paint, mixing each stroke of the furrows.From the degraded bottom to the more contrasted upper face.

Making the ocean god, the most meditative piece of the series.

Being present, in the now, is I believe, true life's gold.
