"Begonia Playing in the Sun"

This striking piece showcases Begonia leaves from a macro perspective, inviting the viewer to appreciate nature's intricate details. The artist's process transforms her digital garden photographs into stunning monochrome artworks, emphasizing patience and dedication. On Fabriano paper, she employs techniques like:

- Graphite for details
- India Ink for unpredictability and unique hues

- Black and white charcoal to unite elements

This synergy of digital and traditional media creates breathtaking high-contrast artworks, highlighting nature's beauty. The artist's meticulous approach captures nuances, translating nature's splendour onto paper and showcasing the beauty in intricate details.
