LATITUDES

Bridge over troubled giraffe,

Call for Price

The city is a disorienting space for anyone – humans and animals alike. Johannesburg is one such city and has been known by many names, Joburg, Jozi, the city of gold, but most suitably in this scenario as the ‘concrete Jungle.’ A mix and match of natural and urban, old and new, home-grown and cosmopolitan. This Giraffe has landed itself tangled in the hustle and bustle of the city, and captures a feeling that many of us experience when faced with the streets of inner city Johannesburg. A sort of surrendering to the unpredictable busy-ness of ones surroundings.
